Dear Readers,

So far it looks like we're set for a sunny June with temperatures hovering around 20c, just perfect in our opinion! We hope that you plan on making the most of the fine weather and enjoying the great outdoors!

This month we've got tent tips if you're planning on dusting off the ol' canvas and heading out for a weekend get-away. Or if more gentle outdoors pursuits are more appealing, have you thought of taking up fishing with 'Go Fishing Day' to inspire you.

With fairy things to make, doggies at work and playful banana pops to keep you cool, we think that June is going to be a whole heap of fun! We hope that yours is too.

Friendly Fairies

The 24th June is Fairy Day! Do you believe in fairies? Most of us have seen or read Peter Pan and remember clapping, to say that we did. Well, here is a fun craft to share your love of fairies with friends and families.

Fairy gardens are charming and a perfect DIY project to do with your children. Many of the materials you need, you likely already have on hand, such as a clay pot or other large container and small plants. Here are some fairy garden ideas for indoors and outdoors!

Tree House

Stick ice-cream sticks together to make a door! Add a small button for a doorknob and stick the door to the base of a tree trunk to make the tree look like a fairy home! If you're adventurous, you could even have a go at making lollipop stick windows and use scraps of old fabric for curtains!

Teacup Garden

Put some soil and moss in a teacup and plant with the tiniest flowers you can find. Maybe place some dolls furniture in it for the fairies to sit in, and if the weather's sunny, cocktail umbrella fairy shade!

Light It Up

Use some fine wire fairy lights to give your garden some sparkle at night. These lights are easy to position and battery powered so you can put lights in windows or just entwined in the tiny shrubbery.

Toadstools

No fairy garden would certainly be complete without a toadstool or seven! Use some modeling clay to make rough bowl shapes and sausage shapes. Let them harden and paint them an array of magical colours. When the paint is dry, stick the sausage part upright in the garden and balance (or glue) the upturned bowl on the top for the mushroom cap. Make these as big or as tiny as you like.

Baby Bunting

Use some patterned tapes or little triangles of paper to make teeny weeny bunting to string from plants and fairy houses!

Your new found fairy friends will thank you for their beautiful new homes and gardens!

By The Barn by Angela Sargent

As we move from a late cold and wet spring through to summer, now we are in June and it's nearly the longest day already!

However, we are, sometimes, losing out to other countries, for several reasons: one being the strength (or weakness) of the pound - if someone can get better value for the currency, there is no need or desire to travel as far to work.

The summer fruits are ripening and need to be picked just at the moment that means they are at their best when they reach you.

Although there is increasing automation and mechanisation in the agricultural industry, it is a clever robot that can decide a strawberry is just at its peak. That is why farming is quite labour intensive – many people come here from overseas to pick fruit and vegetables.

There are strict regulations concerning employing overseas workers and a good wage has to be offered, along with accommodation and good terms of employment in order to attract the people but it is hard, physical work with an inclement climate (unlike Spain for instance).

The livestock industry also employs a huge foreign workforce, manning the abattoirs, operating as vets and working on dairy farms, so any shortage of labour impacts highly on farming. Why? Our own people don't seem to want to do those sort of jobs.

Ted will have a very busy time this month and will be working hard, making up for the previous quieter spell!

The dawn chorus is at its peak and the fields are full of the calls of Lapwings and Blackbirds, Sky larks and the smaller songbirds. It's a magical time of the year.

Fishing For Things To Do

The 18th June is 'Go Fishing Day'. Fishing is a great past-time for getting out of the house, into the fresh air and removing yourself from the busy pace of every day life.

National Go Fishing Day is observed annually on June 18th. This is a day to take time from your daily routine to find a stream, pond, lake or river, bait your hook, cast your line and catch a fish or two.

In addition to providing food, fishing is a recreational pastime of many.

Recreational fishing includes conventions, rules, licensing restrictions and laws that limit the way in which fish may be caught. A rod, reel, line and hooks with any one of the different forms of bait or lures, are the most common form of recreational fishing.

The practice of catching (or attempting to catch) fish with a hook is known as angling. Catch and release (returning the fish to the water to continue its life) is sometimes expected or required by law. For others, this is a preferred form of fishing.

There are a number of great places to fish in and around Burton-On-Trent, and we would encourage you to get in touch with The Burton Mutual Angling Association to find out information on equipment and fishing licences.

For more information on local fishing visit: www.burtonmutual.co.uk or if you're interested in deep-sea fishing get in touch with Three Tunns Sea Fishing Club on 07985 330428: www.facebook.com/pg/3tunnsseafishing

World Cup Winners?

by Perry Deakin

Well it is almost upon us; the greatest sporting event on the planet – The FIFA World Cup.

We have waited four years since the last one and the opportunity to exorcise those demons (you've forgotten haven't you, blocked out the pain of Luis Suarez making a fool of Gary Cahill and putting us out of the tournament much earlier than should have happened to a country of our football heritage).

Four years of waiting for the newspapers to publish their World Cup charts with every fixture listed so that we can plan our entire lives around the games we want to watch, 4 years of waiting for confirmation of when our BBQ's will need to be, 4 years of waiting for a reasonable excuse not to go to that family in-law gathering 'because England are playing' and 4 years of waiting for even Colombia versus Japan to be the most important thing ever!

The World Cup does strange things to us – we become very patriotic, revel in the failure of Scotland, Wales and both Irish teams to qualify for the tournament and find ourselves earnestly discussing England's chances with friends and family members who normally show no interest whatsoever in the sport. We attach the cross of St George to our cars and sing those World Cup anthems on-mass as we prepare for the big kick-off and convince ourselves a little more each day that England can win it – we can, cant we?

Talking of football anthems, we all have our favourites. Personally, I think that World in Motion and Three Lions are by far the best football songs ever written but you may have a different opinion – I'm singing them as I write though, so we must be getting close!

Of course, FIFA are doing their best to create mayhem at the tournament – we already have the issues around how Russia won the bid to host the tournament and their on-going problems with football violence, racism and high level corruption (topics for another day), but FIFA have recently announced VAR (Video Assistant Referee) will be used throughout the tournament (despite not being able to tell exactly how it will be used) and that red cards can be issued at half-time and up to an hour after the game if footage reveals red card offences.

Surely the biggest, richest and most prestigious sporting event in the world should not be introducing last minute changes to their laws before they have been tested and wrinkles ironed out – I predict mayhem at some point – there are referees at the tournament who have never worked with VAR in their domestic leagues so will be learning 'on-the-job' – absolute lunacy!

Also, with the new retrospective red card laws I look forward to fuss caused when a player scores in the first half only to be red-carded at half time for an offence unseen at the time but picked up by cameras – can you imagine the chaos.

But let's look on the positive side – we qualified top of our group, haven't been beaten in an International for a very long time (Think Iceland, now stop thinking about it!) and we have a young, fit and talented squad of players. If we play with pace and passion I believe the semi-finals are possible – and who knows from there, but I will be seriously annoyed if we go out before the quarter-finals – we're better than that.

So; if Harry Kane has his shooting boots on, Raheem Sterling learns how to finish, Dele Alli recaptures his form and Jordan Pickford repays the faith being shown in him – who knows!

Get those beers in, buy the flags and arrange the Barbies – its here at last!!

COME ON ENGLAND!

High Puppy Powered Job

Awwww! What could be cuter than dogs in the office right? Who wouldn't want a magical little pupperino lounging about under their desk making cute faces up at them all work-day long! Swoon!

Well we're all in luck! This month we see 'Bring Your Dog To Work Day' happening on Friday the 22nd June. So you've got plenty of time to plead and plead and plead with your managers and bosses to let you bring your furriest of friends along with you.

'Bring Your Dog To Work Day' is an annual nationwide event that raises money for charities dedicated to making a difference to the welfare of dogs. On Friday 22nd June, businesses from across the UK will welcome their dog loving employees into the workplace, along with their loyal four-legged companions, all in the name of charity. It's the fifth national event of its kind.

All proceeds this year go to dog rescue charity 'All Dogs Matter', a charity that rescues and rehomes more than 300 dogs a year and has three members of staff. The dogs in their care are either strays, are relocated from pounds, or simply come from owners who can no longer keep them. A mixture of foster homes and kennel spaces are used to take care of the dogs.

Above all, the day promises to be a lot of fun for all those involved. It's time to give your dog a job!

THE BENEFITS OF TAKING PART

Many scientific studies have concluded that the presence of pets can substantially reduce a person's stress level in the workplace. Increased job satisfaction, team co-operation and morale have all been reported in employees that spend the workday with their pets.

Banana Pops

Ice-cream! Man how we love ice-cream! ...but...oh the guilt! Yes, a little bit of what you love and makes you happy is a fine, fine thing, but with the hot weather looming throughout the summer, chomping ice-cream all day long 'aint gonna be too healthy! So here's the next best thing! Frozen banana pops! Infinitely customisable, healthy and fun to make! You'll just have to stop yourself eating too many of these! As they say, too much of a good thing...

BANANA POPS

You'll need:

- ripe bananas
- dark, milk or white chocolate
- colourful sprinkles
- chopped nuts
- fruit yogurts
- wooden lollypop sticks
- greaseproof paper
- a baking tray
- space in your freezer to fit the tray!

Method:

- Cover your baking tray with a piece of greaseproof paper.
- Cut your banana in half and gently insert a lollypop stick into each cut end. Do this with as many bananas as you wish.
- Place each half banana on the baking tray and pop into the freezer for at least 3 hours until the bananas are frozen.

● When the bananas are frozen, melt some chocolate and dip each banana into the melted chocolate, or if you prefer, dip the bananas into fruit yogurt instead.

● Rest each coated banana back on the lined baking tray so that they aren't touching and sprinkle each banana with the topping of your choice, sprinkles or nuts... get really creative.

● Put the tray back into the freezer until the chocolate is set or the yogurt coating is fully frozen.

● When fully frozen, the banana pops can be removed from the tray and stored in the freezer in a ziplock freezer bag to save space.

● Try not to eat too many of these delicious treats! But do enjoy the guilt free feeling when you do!

● TOP TIP: If you want even more dense coverage for your sprinkles or nuts, put them in a small cup and when you've dipped the bananas in the chocolate or yogurt, dip them straight into the topping and then rest on the tray.

● BE INVENTIVE: If you're feeling adventurous, why not try stacking smaller pieces of bananas with strawberries onto the lollypop stick? Or instead of dipping the bananas drizzle the chocolate on with a spoon.

Baby First Aid

As we head into the summer, a few bumps and scrapes are bound to happen as babies and young children explore the outdoors. It pays to be prepared for any eventuality...

TOP TIPS FOR SAFE OUTDOORS FUN:

- Avoid insects - teach your children to leave insects alone and keep footwear on.
- Check your surroundings - broken glass, nails, sharp corners can be hidden dangers.
- Drink plenty of water - dehydration can be dangerous so keep your children topped up.
- Be water safe - never leave a child unattended near water or near a paddling pool.
- Keep a kit - always carry plasters, sting relief ointment, sun-cream, a hat and water with you.

- For anything more serious, it pays to familiarise yourself with baby friendly First Aid.

CHOKING:

1. Slap it out. Lay your baby face down on your thigh and support their head. Give up to five back blows between their shoulder blades with the heel of your hand.
2. Check their mouth. Lay your baby on your thigh face up. Carefully pick out any obvious objects with your fingertips
3. Squeeze it out. Using two fingers, give up to five downward chest thrusts. Check the mouth. If the obstruction hasn't cleared call 999/112 for emergency help

4. Call 999/112. Take your baby with you and call 999 or 112. Repeat the above steps 1 to 3 until help arrives.

STOPPED BREATHING:

1. Call 999/112 for emergency help. If you're alone, give one minute of CPR before calling on a speaker phone.
2. Breathe. Open the airway. Put your lips around their mouth and nose and blow steadily for up to one second. Give five initial rescue breaths.
3. Pump. Using two fingers in the centre of the chest, give 30 chest compressions at a rate of 100-120 per minute.
4. Repeat. Give two rescue breaths followed by 30 chest compressions. Continue CPR until help arrives.

Camping Clever

Many of us have a tent languishing in the loft or at the back of the garage. Camping can be a really fun and cheap way to have a summer get-away. If you're tempted to get outdoors, here's some tips to set up your temporary home in a super easy jiffy!

Read the instructions...

If you're like us, it's probably been a while since you set up that tent, so familiarise yourself with the 'How To', it'll save your sanity in the long-run.

No instructions!...

Do an Internet search. Many manufacturers' instructions are available online.

Put up the tent at least once...

Don't wait until your camping trip to learn about pitching a tent! Try it in the privacy of your garden. If you don't have a garden, visit the nearest playground or park. Here's what to do:

Unpack your tent...

- Spread all of the pieces on the ground.
- Make sure you know which piece is which.
- Read through the instructions again (really!) and make sure you have a solid understanding of the whole process.

• Okay. Now you can begin! Follow the manufacturer's instructions exactly, in the order they are given.

At camp...

- Remember to bring along the instructions - and use them!
- Arrange to arrive at your camping spot early in the day. You don't want to be setting up a tent when you (and the kids!) are tired and hungry. You definitely don't want to be pitching a tent in the dark. (Remember, though, life does happen - and you probably will find yourself setting up camp in the dark someday. That's why you did all that practising at home! You now know your tent so well that you can pitch it in the dark!).
