Angela Sargent, Ewe Move,

Dear Readers,

Woooooooooooooooo!!!! The scary season is upon us! This 31st October is the day we dread when all the monsters and evil-doers plan to come out and celebrate with their howls and cackles and terrifying grins!

If you fancy a much lighter take on Halloween, this month we've got some cute Halloween decorations that you can make to brighten the dark corners of your house as the clocks go back on Sunday 27th October.

We're also celebrating the 'fall' and not in an American sense, although leaves are all turning golden. The 9th November sees the anniversary of the fall of the Berlin wall. What a lovely moment in history it was to see families reunited and love and solidarity triumph!

See... it's not always so ghoulish out there!

Fall of the Wall

This 9th November we see the 30th anniversary of the fall of the Berlin Wall. Many of us remember that exciting day when news reports started flooding the world that the Berlin Wall had fallen.

How it All Started

After World War II the country of Germany was divided up into two separate countries. East Germany became a communist country under the control of the Soviet Union. At the same time West Germany was a democratic country and allied with Britain, France, and the United States. The initial plan was that the country would eventually be reunited, but this didn't happen for a long time.

The City of Berlin

Berlin was the capital of Germany. Even though it was located in the eastern half of the country, the city was controlled by the four major powers that fought the Nazis; the Soviet Union, the United States, Britain, and France.

Defections

As people in East Germany

began to realize that they did not want to live under the rule of the Soviet Union and communism, they started to leave the eastern part of the country and move to the west. These people were called defectors. Over the course of the years 1949 to 1959, over 2 million people left the country. In 1960 alone, around 230,000 people defected.

Building the Wall

Finally, the Soviets and the East German leaders had had enough. On August 12th and 13th of 1961 they built a wall around East Berlin to prevent people from leaving. At first the wall was just a barbed wire fence. Later it would be rebuilt with concrete blocks 12 feet high and four feet wide. The wall became the symbol of the "Iron Curtain" that separated the democratic western countries and the communist countries of Eastern Europe throughout the Cold War.

There were also many guard towers along the wall. Guards were ordered to shoot anyone attempting to escape.

It is estimated that around 5000 people escaped over or through the wall during the 28 years it stood. Around 200 were killed trying to escape.

The Fall of the Wall

In 1989, a series of revolutions in nearby Eastern Bloc countries (Poland and Hungary in particular) caused a chain reaction in East Germany that ultimately resulted in the demise of the Wall. After several weeks of civil unrest, the East German government announced on 9th November 1989 that all East German citizens could visit West Germany and West Berlin. Crowds of East Germans crossed and climbed onto the Wall, joined by West Germans on the other side in a celebratory atmosphere. Over the next few weeks, euphoric people and souvenir hunters chipped away parts of the Wall. To this day sections of the wall still survive in Berlin.

By The Barn by Angela Sargent

Fresh October mornings, bright and breezy with a crisp chill in the air heralds in the autumn season. The scents of ploughed land, over ripened berries, damp earth and strong fox odour become a constant.

Smells are an intrinsic part of agriculture: from the new mown silage grass of Spring, through the warm harvested corn, to the stench of fresh manure. The scent of hay bales stacked high in the barn and the vinegar pong of silage fermenting when a contaminated bale is opened. Sometimes we forget to use our senses but catching the merest whiff of something familiar can transport us back in our minds to an event otherwise forgotten!

Our failed bird seed mix has been resown with slug pellets- a successful legal challenge meant that metaldehyde can still be used, as long as very stringently and carefully. This is to provide food and cover for all sorts of birds and insects over winter, when such things become scarce because of the season and is part of our conservation steps taken here on farm (like many other farmers).

We are continuing to market our own home bred lambs via Bakewell, however, who knows what is likely to happen to trade in these uncertain weeks and months. The 'store' lambs (those we bought in to grow on a bit before selling) are just beginning to finish and these too will go through the market.

We hear Tawny and Barn owls screeching as the afternoon fades into evening and into night and have seen Little Owls. Sounds as well as smells abound!

Treat Yourself Right

With the weather getting colder, it's pretty much guaranteed that at some point between now and Christmas you will feel a bit under the weather. But what if you feel worse? Sometimes the winter season can set some nasty bugs and viruses upon us, so do you know what to do or where to go for help? Here's our handy guide below:

Self-care

A lot of common illnesses can be treated at home by using over-the-counter medicine and getting plenty of rest. It is worth keeping paracetamol or aspirin, anti-diarrhoea medicine, rehydration mixture, indigestion remedy, plasters and a thermometer in your medicine cabinet. Self-care is the best choice to treat very minor illnesses and injuries.

Visit Your Pharmacy

Pharmacists are experts in medicines who can help you with minor health concerns. As qualified healthcare professionals, they can offer clinical advice and over-the-counter medicines for a range of minor illnesses, such as coughs, colds, sore throats, tummy trouble and aches and pains.

If symptoms suggest it's something more serious, pharmacists have the right training to make sure you get the help you need. For example they will tell you if you need to see a GP.

All pharmacists train for 5 years in the use of medicines. They are also trained in managing minor illnesses and providing health and wellbeing advice.

Many pharmacies are open until late and at weekends. You don't need an appointment – you can just walk in.

Most pharmacies have a private consultation room where you can discuss issues with pharmacy staff without being overheard.

Pharmacies can give treatment advice about a range of common conditions and minor injuries, such as:

- aches and pains
- sore throat
- coughs
- colds
- flu
- earache
- cystitis
- skin rashes
- teething
- red eye

If you want to buy an over-the-counter medicine, the pharmacist and their team can help you choose. Antibiotics will not be available over the counter to treat minor conditions.

See Your GP

Make an appointment with your local GP when you have an illness or injury that will not go away, including persistent vomiting, ear pain, stomach ache or back ache. Get the treatment you need at a convenient time and place and reduce the demand on our emergency services. Registering is free and means you can make an appointment with a doctor for medical advice, examinations and prescriptions. For help finding your nearest GP, use the online search on www.nhs.uk or call 0300 311 22 33.

Go to the Hospital

An A&E department (also known as emergency department or casualty) deals with genuine life-threatening emergencies, such as:

- loss of consciousness
- acute confused state and fits that are not stopping
- chest pain
- breathing difficulties
- severe bleeding that cannot be stopped
- severe allergic reactions
- severe burns or scalds
- stroke
- major trauma such as a road traffic accident

Only go to A&E if you have experienced any of the above symptoms.

You can help to alleviate the strain on our NHS by following these guides. Please also follow weather warning advice in ice and snow, helping to take the pressure off A&E for avoidable injuries caused by slips and trips. If you don't have to go out, don't.

Water Water Everywhere?

You might think that in rainy old blighty we've got plenty of water sloshing about, and most of the time we do! But, have you ever considered how much energy and resources is used to make the lovely clean water that comes out of your tap? This wasted water treatment costs us and the environment everytime we waste our water. Try to conserve and reduce your water usage by doing some of the following:

1. Turning the water off when brushing your teeth or washing your hair can save a lot of water. In fact, as much as 70 cups of tea!

2. Avoid using the toilet as a bin. Every time you flush your toilet, you use up to 9-12 litres of water.

3. Only wash full loads of laundry. Same rule applies when using the dishwasher – keep it full.

4. Take shorter showers.

5. When washing your dishes (without the dishwasher) do not leave the water running to rinse.

6. Rainwater harvesting for your garden is a good idea. The water is untreated so is better for your plants too!

7. Do you know how to shut off your water system in the event of an emergency? If not it is time to learn how to do this.

8. Teach your kids how to conserve water and help them do it. Rewards are a great incentive!

9. Using the right size pans when cooking is yet another surprising way that you can save on your water consumption and only use enough water to just cover your veg. Same goes for in the bath!

10. Check your hoses and pipes for leaks, cracks, and other damage. You might be losing lots of water this way.

Trusted Agents by Ewe Move

The UK's Most Trusted Estate Agent is now open in Lichfield & Barton-Under-Needwood.

To celebrate, owner Victoria Sylvester is offering a reduced sales fee of 0.6% including VAT for the first 10 customers to list their property for sale.

Victoria comments "I'm delighted to be bringing EweMove's award-winning approach to estate agency to my local area.

EweMove offers full-service estate agency with customer service at its heart. My customers will be able to speak to someone 24/7 or book viewings, make offers and book valuations on the EweMove website.

As an experienced estate agent, I understand it can be stressful moving home which is why I'm the sole point of contact for my customers. I will create the listing, accompany all viewings, negotiate the best price and do everything I can to get to completion."

All of EweMove's sellers benefit from a Happy Sale Guarantee. There is no minimum contract term meaning you can cancel at any time and there's nothing to pay upfront, you only pay when your house is successfully sold. Victoria adds "EweMove works on a 'No Sale – No Fee' model which means you only pay us when your property completes.

EweMove is rated 5 star and Excellent on the independent review website Trustpilot where they have over 6,500 reviews, earning them the title of the UK's Most Trusted Estate Agent.

If you're thinking of selling soon or you'd like advice on your current property, please make sure to visit the EweMove website and contact Victoria to arrange a free, no obligation valuation appointment. # Ghostly Delights

Halloween is one of our favourite holidays! The 31st of October just fills us with sheer dread! All the ghouls are due to be out celebrating and taunting good decent folk with their terrifying antics!

If you're throwing a Halloween party, we thought you might enjoy making these adorable little ghost lights! They're sure to brighten even the darkest corner!

You will need:

A string of LED lights
Ping pong balls (one per bulb)
White fabric (something thin like muslin, chiffon or light weight cotton) craft glue
An empty egg box
A black felt-tip pen
A small cross head screwdriver or large nail
small scissors

Method:

Cut your fabric into squares approximately 8"x8" in size. Pull the threads to fray the edges a little to make the fabric look tatty.

Place a ping-pong ball into the egg box to hold it still and stop it rolling around.

Use your nail or screwdriver to carefully push a hole into the ball, being mindful to make the hole just big enough to push the bulb light in without it being loose. It needs to be a snug fit.

Apply some glue around the hole in the ping-pong ball and stick the centre of your cloth squares to it. Use your scissors to snip the fabric where it covers the hole.

Take your felt-tip pen and draw some ghoulish faces onto your little ping-pong ghosts. You can use the egg box to keep the balls steady and stop them rolling around while you try to draw the faces.

Take each ghost and insert the lights into the top of their heads.

You can now use your lights to terrify your friends and neighbours!

EASY SPOOKY HANGING GHOSTS

Why not give these cute hanging ghost decorations a go too? They're super easy to make!

Just cut a large spiral with a rounded end out of a piece of paper and draw on a spooky face. You can hang them from the ceiling with some thread to make them look like they're floating!
