Dear Readers,

Easter is around the corner and we're excitedly looking forward to some more clement weather, sunshine is always a bonus! What better way to enjoy the dry days than getting out in our glorious countryside and enjoying the riverbank? Support Staffordshire have launched a project to get us locals involved in sharing 'Tales of the Riverbank' with them, read on and find out more!

We take a look at a firm family favourite festival this month, did you know that some countries have their own special easter traditions? Read on and you might learn something new!

Don't forget to enter this month's competition for your chance to get those niggling scuffs, scrapes and dings fixed on your beloved vehicle, with a £50 voucher from ChipsAway!

As always lovely readers, we're hoping you keep well and stay safe!

Eggcellent Easter!

Though today it is perhaps most celebrated as a time to gorge ourselves on various egg-shaped chocolate delicacies, many countries have different traditions!

DECORATED EGGS

More than 2,500 years ago, the ancient Persians were painting eggs for their New Year celebrations, which fell on the Spring Equinox. Sculptures on the walls of the ancient city of Persepolis show people carrying eggs for these occasions to the King.

EGG KNOCKING

In the US state of Louisiana, they've been knocking eggs together for around sixty years. It's all part of a competition where you're knocked out if your egg cracks, leaving just one winner remaining.

SILENT FRENCH BELLS

Church Bells in France and parts of Belgium and the Netherlands stay silent for a number of days in the run up to Easter. The tradition says that the bells fly out of their steeples and fly to Rome, returning on Easter morning bringing both coloured eggs and hollow chocolate shaped like eggs and rabbits.

GERMANIC EASTER FIRES

Much like Bonfire Night in the UK, the northern and eastern parts of the Netherlands, as well as many parts of Northern Germany, light fires at sunset on Easter Day. This is a pre-Christian tradition, dating back to Saxon times when the people believed that the fire helped spring to become victorious over winter.

HOT CROSS BUNS

Traditionally associated with Good Friday these delicious spiced buns are served primarily in Britain, but also in the United States, Australia and New Zealand and also in the Czech Republic, where it is a cake known as Mazanec.

Living to the Last

Families can remember their loved ones and celebrate the lives they lived at a special St Giles Hospice memorial garden in Whittington this spring.

Relatives and friends are being invited to dedicate a unique 'Celebrate Lives Lived' orange Gerbera peg, personalised with the name of their loved one, in return for a donation which will help to fund the work of St Giles supporting patients living with a terminal illness.

For 2021, St Giles has also set up a special virtual garden with the name of your loved one shown next to a Gerbera in an online display which can be viewed at any time. This will be particularly useful for people who are self-isolating or who do not wish to visit in person.

The gardens will create a colourful display of Gerbera pegs dedicated to the memory of loved ones, whether they have been cared for at St Giles Hospice or not, which will then be open to visitors throughout May, following current Government COVID-19 guidelines.

Chloe Herbert, Head of Fundraising at St Giles Hospice, said: "Celebrate Lives Lived offers a special way to remember your loved ones each spring. You can come to the garden in a safe and socially-distanced visit and at the end of the month you can take the Gerbera peg home as a special keepsake or to plant in your garden."

Lichfield police officer Gavin Farley (52) is supporting Celebrate Lives Lived this year in memory of his mother Sheila Watson, who died with leukaemia at St Giles Hospice last June at the age of 74.

Gavin said that although most people see going into a hospice as marking the end of life, for his mother St Giles was the beginning of a new phase of her life. "Despite her illness she enjoyed being there and made so many new friends," he said. "It wasn't just a place of sadness, it was a place of joy as well.

"Everyone is so caring and nothing is too much trouble. To mark VE Day, the hospice held its own celebrations and the staff did my mum's hair and makeup, which she really appreciated. Plus, when they found out that Monsters Inc. was her favourite film, they set it up on a laptop so that she could watch it in her room. It's these little things that made such a massive difference.

"The staff at St Giles really went above and beyond what they had to do for their jobs – they were carers but became friends to us all, because they were as thoughtful and supportive to the families just as much as their patients.

"We'll definitely be supporting Celebrate Lives Lived, not only to thank St Giles for the way they looked after Mom, but as a way of celebrating her life and memory too. Despite the sadness of her passing, St Giles has so many good memories for us."

To dedicate your Gerbera, visit www.stgileshospice.com/celebrateliveslived or call 01543 432538 before midday on Friday 16th April.

PICTURE CAPTION: Gavin and Angela Farley with Gavin's mum Sheila Watson; Sheila with nurses at St Giles Hospice; and the Celebrate Lives Lived Gerberas.

A Wild Ride

With many of the lockdown restrictions purported to be easing over the coming months one of the sectors most relieved will be Zoos and Wildlife Parks, who will be able to reopen from 12th April all going well.

Zoos and Wildlife Parks have borne a great burden during the pandemic, with visitor numbers eliminated and ticket sales at next to nil, much of the revenue relied on to feed the animals and pay for the specialist zoologists and staff that care for them has all but disappeared.

Our two nearest zoos at Twycross and Drayton Manor will need much help from the public if they are to continue to look after their animals and facilities.

The priciest animals...

We're not talking about your average house cat here, if you've ever taken a pet to the vet for something extraordinary you'll appreciate how much investment of love and money it takes to keep animals, so imagine what the zoos are facing!

- It might surprise you that the smaller species of bat that live in giant flocks are costly to maintain. They produce so much poop and ammonia its a 24/7 job to keep enclosures clean.
- In captivity with a sedentary lifestyle, you would expect a large cat to eat between 4kg - 8kg five times per week. That's quite a shopping bill!
- There are certain species of Asian langurs that are very picky eaters, so it can become costly to buy all of the special leaves they need to eat.

In anticipation of the lifting of restrictions, why not plan your visit for after the 12th April. As always, please do keep up-to-date with all Government guidelines and restrictions in place, as ever, things can change fast and we must all do our bit!

In the meantime, you can help by:

Build a Mini Wildlife Pond

We've had a few days where it certainly feels like spring is springing and now is the time of year to consider supporting wildlife in your garden. Many animals will be building homes to rear their young over the coming months. Creating a mini-pond will not only support all kinds of different aquatic life and insects, but will provide drinking water for small mammals and birds too! Here's how to build one...

You will need...

- a watertight container such as an upcycled bucket or plastic tub
- old bricks, rock and pebbles
- some pond plants
- a spade

What you need to do...

1 Choose a spot. Your pond will need light, but not full sunlight all day. You can dig a hole and sink your container, or just have it sitting on top of the ground.

2 If the container isn't watertight, e.g. An old plant pot, then add a piece of pond liner.

One vertical growing plant that reaches out of the water e.g. flowering rush

3 Add a layer of gravel and rocks.

4 Fill your pond with rainwater (tap water contains additives that are good for humans but not safe for small wildlife).

5 Start planting, you only need two or three plants.

6 Now watch and wait!

Tales of the Riverbank by Sarah Coxon

Are you missing reminiscing in your local? Do you miss long walks and rambles in the countryside? Are you finding home-schooling a thankless challenge?

Through the Transforming the Trent Valley Landscape Partnership Scheme (funded by the National Lottery Heritage Fund and led by Staffordshire Wildlife Trust) we are relaunching our Tales From The Riverbank project to give you the opportunity to tell us your stories, re-explore nature and to give you a break from learning restrictions at home.

The project would love to hear from everyone about their childhood stories and experiences of playing along the Trent Valley – the Dove, the Trent and the Tame in East Staffordshire or South Derbyshire – and will also provide a free downloadable resource pack for children to revitalise their lockdown learning. If you regularly visit these rivers still or used to live by them we want to hear from you.

How many of you played in rivers and went home with a soggy bottom? How many of you played pooh sticks, set sail to distant climes or found treasures in the water? Have you been fishing and caught a whopper? Where did you play? What wildlife did you see?

How different are your memories to that of your family and friends? Can you help the project to showcase how outdoor play has changed over the generations?

Already we have received tales about motorbike mishaps, horseshoes being found in streams and happy canoe trips under bridges. Can you top that?

Please tell us your stories by sending an email to: nicola.lynes@supportstaffordshire.org.uk, by visiting the Trent Valley website at www.thetrentvalley.org.uk/childhoodmemories.php or by posting them to:

For more information please have a look at our website www.thetrentvalley.org.uk, or you can call us on 07837 127165 for a chat with our Community Engagement Officer.

We look forward to reading about your memories of the riverbank.
