Dear Readers,

As we roll into the cooler evenings and the latter few months of the year, this year is a fluffy warming hug! We have fluffy squirrels and fluffy rugs and warming soups to keep you happy.

We've also got information on Macmillan's 'World's Biggest Coffee Morning' that will give you a warm and fluffy feeling in your heart if you take part and raise some cash for such a deserving cause.

If all that isn't enough, this month you can enter our competition to win some vouchers towards a cosy night out at The Middle Bell in Barton-under-Needwood. Roll on the snuggly evenings!

Look after each other!

The Brutality of Airguns by Derby Cats Protection

No cat should have to undergo the horrific injuries suffered by air gun attacks. If your cat has experienced an air gun attack, please let us know: <https://bit.ly/AirgunReport>

Anyone can help by visiting <http://www.cats.org.uk/airguns> where they will be able to enter their postcode. If they live in an area where there's been a recent air gun attack, they will be able to send an e-letter to their MP urging them to join the taskforce. If not, regardless of where they live, everyone can also sign our petition calling for licensing of air guns. Joining the campaign won't cost a penny and takes just two minutes of your time.

Put The Kettle On - 24th of September!

The Worlds Biggest Coffee Morning which has been going since 1990, is organised by Macmillan Cancer Support to raise funds for the charity.

Macmillan offer much needed support service for those diagnosed with cancer and their families. Macmillan is at the forefront of understanding the needs and experiences of people living with cancer. They do this by analysing public health data, evaluating services and healthcare economics, conducting surveys, funding academic research and working closely with people affected by cancer and our professionals and partners on the ground.

The coffee morning event grew from a local fundraising event in the first year to a countrywide event the following year. With over two thousand people registering to host an event in year two it was swiftly dubbed the World's Biggest Coffee Morning. In 2014 over 154,000 people registered their coffee morning and a record £20 million was raised – that is quite staggering!

Even if you are a non-coffee lover who thinks they can't take part coffee isn't the only brew on offer. In the years since it started the event has grown to include something for everyone. Now amidst the coffee mornings you can find karaoke nights, pub quizzes and garden parties.

We often say to a friend 'do you want to meet up for a coffee?' The key aim being getting together with a friend to have fun. Macmillan Cancer Support is saying the same; get together with friends and family, have fun and raise money for a good cause.

You might even fancy trying to beat a world record attempt such as the Highest Coffee Morning that took place in 2004 or the World's Deepest Coffee Morning in 2002.

So grab your organic fair trade coffee, gourmet Colombian coffee and fair trade coffee beans and join in with the Worlds Biggest Coffee Morning!

And what's more the M&S Cafe are the official partner of the World's Biggest Coffee Morning – so if you don't have chance to host your own coffee morning, just pop along and have your cuppa with M&S, and you'll still be helping to raise funds for this important cause.

Soups for the Soul

Taco Chicken Soup

1 onion, chopped
1 red pepper, chopped
2 tsp salt
500ml chicken stock
1 tin chopped tomatoes
1 green chilli chopped
1 tin cream of mushroom soup
Cooking oil
1 tbsp mexican spice mix
1/2 tsp ground cumin
1/4 tsp ground black pepper
500g diced chicken breast
Small bunch of fresh coriander
Some grated cheddar

Fry onions, red pepper and 1tsp salt in a large pot until softened, add stock, chopped tomatoes, mushroom soup and green chilli. Gently simmer.

Mix 2 tablespoons of cooking oil with the mexican spice mix, 1tsp salt, cumin and pepper in a bowl and add chicken and stir to coat.

Add spiced chicken to soup and simmer until the chicken is cooked through.

Serve and sprinkle with grated cheese and chopped coriander.

Broccoli & Stilton Soup

1 onion, chopped
1 tbsp olive oil
2 heads broccoli, chopped
2 potatoes peeled & cubed
1ltr vegetable stock
Stilton cheese (to taste)
Salt
Pepper

Sautee onions in olive oil until softened, add potatoes and vegetable stock.

Simmer until the potatoes start to soften and then add the broccoli and cook until tender.

Carefully blitz the vegetables with a hand blender (using a clean tea towel over the pot to prevent hot soup splashes).

Crumble the stilton into the soup and salt and pepper to your preferred taste, you may need less salt than you would normally use.

Warming Noodle Soup

200g cooked tofu pieces
170g soft udon noodles
1 small red chilli pepper
1/2 inch fresh ginger
1 ltr vegetable stock
1 carrot, matchstick chopped
6 spring onions, chopped
1 pak / bok choi
150g shitake mushrooms
Sesame oil
Light soy sauce

Bring vegetable stock to a gentle simmer, finely chop the ginger and add to stock.

Add the carrots, white parts of the spring onions, mushrooms and noodles to the stock.

Cook until noodles are almost ready. Add sesame oil and soy sauce to your preference and then add bok / pak choi to cook until wilted.

Serve in bowls garnished with finely chopped red chilli and green parts of spring onions.

Whether you're a meat eater, veggie or vegan, we hope you will enjoy trying one of these three delicious and comforting autumn evening warmers!

By The Barn by Angela Sargent

*"To bend with apples the moss'd cottage-trees,
And fill all fruit with ripeness
to the core."*

Keats -Ode to Autumn

As Autumn arrives we must not forget that we have a population of 70million people to feed and with floods in Germany and Austria and 'heat domes' in North America, we cannot presume that we will easily import any shortfall and if new governmental policies discourage or undermine farming, how will our needs be met?

Many will be starting to trim hedges as the bird breeding season has finished, especially along roadsides, where field work needs to be carried out or where there is a need to manage the hedge(if it's getting slightly too tall maybe).

Here, we leave it as late as possible and only do half at once, not neat and tidy but providing lots of feed and habitat for wildlife.

We'll have some of our apples ready for picking this month, although most of our trees are later ripening varieties, along with the crab apples in the hedgerows.

We replanted an ancient orchard with Derbyshire varieties of Apple nearly ten years ago and they are maturing slowly, protected by a large hedge from the cold easterly winds. Most of our apples are used by cider makers but I manage to store enough to feed us into the new year. After harvesting, the trees would sleep through Autumn until being 'wakened' by wassailing around January 17th (the old twelfth night) when they would be awakened by noise to drive off evil spirits and a feed of cider soaked toast! Somewhat like a harvest festival, thanks given for the production of food for the coming year.

Nuts About Squirrels

Running from 4th -10th October 2021, Red Squirrel Week gives you the chance to get involved with projects throughout the UK which have been set up to help our woodland friends.

It is estimated that there are only 140,000 red squirrels left in the UK. You're more likely to have seen grey squirrels, natives of the eastern and mid western United States, who are fast displacing our own native red squirrels.

So what else do we know about our red-headed critters? Well they are quite mysterious animals! They like to hide out in tree tops and snack on cones.

Not the ice cream kind, the conifers! How will you know if there are red squirrels nearby if you can't see them? Their large dreys (nests) will be visible along with chewed pine cones scattered around the forest. And did you know that baby squirrels are also called kittens? Just like cats, although we can't imagine them hanging out with the feline kind any time soon!

If you want to get involved because you love wildlife, or because you remember Beatrix Potter's childhood story, The Tale of Squirrel Nutkin, then there are lots of projects and wildlife events to get involved with and 'see red' on Red Squirrel Week.

Across the country there are many red squirrel conservation projects. In the North of England you can become an active member of your local red squirrel group or donate to this very special cause. Or if you're simply nutty about squirrels, you can even adopt one!

To find out more and get involved with events to celebrate and save this amazing species visit the Red Squirrel Survival Trust website here: www.rsst.org.uk

Give Peace a Chance

Each year on the 21st September the International Day of Peace is observed around the world. The UN General Assembly has declared this as a day devoted to strengthening the ideals of peace, through observing 24 hours of non-violence and cease-fire.

It's well known the pandemic has hit the underprivileged and marginalized groups the hardest. By April 2021, over 687 million COVID-19 vaccine doses have been administered globally, but over 100 countries have not received a single dose. People caught in conflict are especially vulnerable in terms of lack of access to healthcare.

In line with the Secretary-General's appeal for a global ceasefire last March, in February 2021 the Security Council unanimously passed a resolution calling for Member States to support a "sustained humanitarian pause" to local conflicts. The global ceasefire must continue to be honoured, to ensure people caught in conflict have access to lifesaving vaccinations and treatments.

We must make peace with nature. Despite the travel restrictions and economic shutdowns, climate change is not on pause. What we need is a green and sustainable global economy that produces jobs, reduces emissions, and builds resilience to climate impacts.

The 2021 theme for the International Day of Peace is "Recovering better for an equitable and sustainable world". The United Nations family invites you to join their efforts as we focus on recovering better for a more equitable and peaceful world. Celebrate peace by standing up against acts of hate online and offline, and by spreading compassion, kindness, and hope in the face of the pandemic, and as we recover.

Love British Food!

What do parsnips, apples, oysters, crab, green runner beans, venison and blackberries have in common? They are all in season during British Food Fortnight!

British Food Fortnight 2021 takes place 18th September to 3rd October 2021.

This is the 20th year of the national celebration of the diverse and delicious food that Britain produces. The UK has a fantastic opportunity to bring our fabulous great British food to the fore! And we can show the rest of the world what we are made of.

Why buy British food?

- British food travels less far from farm to shop so has a lower carbon footprint than most imported foods.

- Eating British fruits and vegetables in season is good for you. Foods in season contain the nutrients, minerals and trace elements that our bodies need at particular times of the year.

- British meat is produced to some of the highest welfare standards in the world: no growth-promoting hormones are allowed and any antibiotics are administered only under veterinary direction.

- Britain's pig farmers operate by UK law to standards of welfare that are some of the highest in the world.

- Britain's beef and sheep industries are the envy of the world; breeding livestock and genetics from our native breeds are much sought after by farmers in other countries. Protect our great native livestock industry by buying the real thing, not an imported substitute.

- Britain's cattle passport system means that each animal can be uniquely traced to its dam (mother) and place of birth.

- You will be supporting the economy; everyone from the farmer, to those who work in food processing and the shops, pubs and restaurants selling the food.

- You will play your part in protecting our environment as much of Britain's food is produced in a sustainable way that enhances the countryside.

Get Involved!

Fun activities, foodie lessons and special menus in hundreds of schools. Teachers are organising special lessons to teach the young about the food grown on their doorstep. School catering managers are running British Food Fortnight menus.

And the Local Authority Caterers Association is supporting at a national level.

There are British Food Fortnight promotions, meet the producer events and tastings in shops and markets. Look out for seasonal British food in the major supermarkets.

Communities are coming together to celebrate the food produced on their doorstep during British Food Fortnight. Villages, market towns and large cities are marking the national food celebrations. British Food Fortnight takes place at the traditional time for celebrating the harvest so it is a time worn tradition for communities to come together.

Wonderfully joyful food festivals giving people the opportunity to meet some of Britain's very best producers. From Thame Food Festival in Oxfordshire, to the Ginger and Spice Festival in Shropshire to the Abergavenny Food Festival in Wales; there are fabulous events for all the family to enjoy!

Shiver Me Timbers!

Did you know that September 19th is Talk Like A Pirate Day?

Created by two friends in 1995 as a joke, Talk Like a Pirate Day has become a beloved faux-holiday that lets everyone channel their inner Jack Sparrow.

Some Common Pirate Terms:

Ahoy - hello

Avast ye! - Stop you!

Landlubber - a person who is uncomfortable, or not incredibly skilled, at sea

Lily-livered - an insult for someone who displays cowardice

Briney deep - the ocean

Hornswaggle - to cheat, swindle

Crow's Nest - the place on the ship where the lookout stand is built

Seadog - an old sailor or pirate

Why not practice your pirate lingo while watching some of the most popular pirate films of all time:

Pirates of the Caribbean: The Curse of the Black Pearl (2003)

Blacksmith Will Turner teams up with eccentric pirate "Captain" Jack Sparrow to save his love, the governor's daughter, from Jack's former pirate allies, who are now undead.

The Crimson Pirate (1952)

During the 1700s, pirate Captain Vallo seizes a British warship and gets involved in various money-making schemes involving Caribbean rebels led by El Libre, British envoy Baron Jose Gruda, and a beautiful courtesan named Consuelo.

Treasure Planet (2002)

This fab film is a Disney version of "Treasure Island". The only difference is that this movie is set in outer space with alien worlds and other galactic wonders.

Treasure Island (1950)

The adventures of young Jim Hawkins and pirate captain Long John Silver. Enchanted by the idea of locating treasure buried by Captain Flint, Squire Trelawney, Dr. Livesey and Jim Hawkins charter a sailing voyage to a Caribbean island. Unfortunately, a large number of Flint's old pirate crew are aboard the ship, including Long John Silver.

Hook (1991)

When Captain James Hook kidnaps his children, an adult Peter Pan must return to Neverland and reclaim his youthful spirit in order to challenge his old enemy. Directed by Steven Spielberg and starring Dustin Hoffman, Robin Williams, Julia Roberts, and Bob Hoskins.

Pirates of the Caribbean: Dead Man's Chest (2006)

Jack Sparrow races to recover the heart of Davy Jones to avoid enslaving his soul to Jones' service, as other friends and foes seek the heart for their own agenda as well.

Although real pirates likely didn't use much of the vocabulary we now think of as "pirate lingo," Talk Like a Pirate Day gives us a fun opportunity to break out of our routine, learn some history, and celebrate a bygone era.

Pet Treat Tips

Our furry friends are an extension of our family, and we delight in giving them treats and seeing them enjoy themselves. We all love a good treat ourselves, right? A little bit of cake, a bag of crisps – so why can't our fur babies have something tasty too? They definitely can! Here are some tips to ensuring treats are both tasty and safe for your pet.

Check human food is safe. There are lots of foods that are fine for us but definitely not for our pets. Always be careful and check before giving your pet any human food.

Many foods can be too high in fat and cause tummy upset or may even be seriously toxic and can cause irreparable damage to their organs.

Sometimes our animals have allergies just like us and human food can cause very scary side effects. Even healthy food like fruit and veg isn't always safe.

Give Dental Treats Sparingly
Keeping our pet's teeth clean is essential for their health, however dental treats aren't always the best way to do this. Often dental treats contain a lot of fat and can add to your pet's waistline while not actually doing much for their teeth. Use them sparingly.

While they are young our pets have very different needs when it comes to treats. Their baby teeth, although very sharp, can be very fragile and cannot handle the same pressure as adult teeth. For this reason, it is important to ensure treats are softer and suitable for puppies and kittens.

Giving bones and hard treats can cause fractures in baby teeth and cause a lot of pain if the nerve becomes exposed and sometimes even requires the tooth to be removed.

It is very common for people to give their pets yoghurt or milk as a treat. Unfortunately, our pets are not able to digest dairy very well and it can affect their digestive system giving them stomach ache or even diarrhoea. It is best to avoid dairy all together and buy specific dog or cat milk if you like to give this as a treat.

Often when our pets have certain health problems, they require particular food and nutrition to help support them properly. Treats can often get in the way with this and cause unwanted issues for our pets. It is important that treats are suitable for your pet's condition as well as their main diet.

It is important to ensure we don't give too many treats – some pets will eat all their treats as well as their normal dinner and start to gain weight.

The timing of when we give treats is also important to consider. Often inappropriate timing of treats can accidentally lead to rewarding unwanted behaviours and confuse our pets. It is important to reward for behaviour we enjoy so time treats carefully and if not during training always ask for a command your pet knows, such as sit, before they receive the treat.

For further information or if you have any concerns you have about giving your pets treats, make an appointment to see our clinic nurse for a free chat: 1283 568162
