ISSUE 172

Dear Readers,

Goodness! This issue is so spring! Spring overload!

We've got carrot cake for the Easter Bunny, daffodils, lambs, chicks, bonnets, Easter trails and events for all the family, seasonal seedling tips for both veg and flowers. This issue is truly bursting at the seams with springy delight!

There's no doubt that the season has firmly changed! Don't forget that even the clocks will be springing forwards by an hour on Sunday 26th March, so if you've got somewhere to be, be sure you've got the right time. Unfortunately, the clock is robbing you of that well deserved lie-in... but hurrah for lighter evenings!

Can you tell we're a little giddy? We hope you are too!

The Lawn Treatment Service by GreenThumb

Since taking over the Stafford Franchise in 2018 and winning the Franchisee newcomer of the year award, husband and wife team Daryl and Julie Harvey have now acquired the Ashbourne Franchise and are looking forward to taking care of their new and existing customers and continuing with the successful growth of their business.

GreenThumb Stafford & Ashbourne has an experienced team of professionally qualified Lawn Operatives and office support staff looking after all our loyal customers in our new combined territory. GreenThumb Stafford & Ashbourne were also runner-up GreenThumb Franchisee for 2022.

This is an exciting time for GreenThumb customers. Our New Treatment Programmes begin with our 5 Core Treatments ensuring your lawn is lush green, weed free and loved. For more than 35 years, we have been analysing the best treatments and fertilisers for your lawn with our dedicated team of developers and plant food nutritionists.

We would like to thank you for your ongoing custom and please be assured that we know exactly what you've come to expect in terms of customer service and results on your lawns. We are passionate about lawns and offer a simple solution to Lawn Care, working together in partnership to create a long lasting, beautiful lawn.

WHAT'S NEW... Our New Lawn Treatment Programmes

As our Lawn Treatment Programmes have advanced, we felt it only fitting to give our programme names an upgrade. Our new Basic Programme gives you four seasonal treatments between January and December and includes an application of Oasis around the time of your 'Summer Ready' treatment, ensuring your lawn is cared for all year round.

Our new Standard Programme includes annual machine work and an application of Oasis around the time of your 'Summer Ready' treatment. Our newly named Standard Programme reflects the fact that machine work is a standard requirement of good Lawn Care.

Our Ultimate Programme now includes absolutely everything your lawn could wish for! Take a look to the right to see what's included in each Lawn Treatment Programme.

Programme.

Please contact us for further information on how to make the change to our new Basic, Standard and Ultimate programmes.

If you have a question, please feel free to call us and ask. We are more than happy to visit and assess your lawns condition; this is free of charge and without any obligation. Let 's create the lawn we both love!

Daryl and Julie Harvey (Directors) GreenThumb Stafford and Ashbourne.

Call 01785 225039 or email, stafford@greenthumb.co.uk today to arrange your free lawn analysis.

LOVE LIFE WITH A LUSH LAWN

Lawns do wonders for our wellbeing. That's why we've devised three programmes of year-round treatments to keep your grass a cut above.

From controlling weeds to bringing out the green, we'll help you to look after the lawn that looks after you.

Easter Carrot Cake by Tim Brooks

Perfect for the Easter bunny this delicious vegan carrot cake is a perfect antidote to all the chocolate Easter eggs and a good way to smuggle some extra hidden veggies into the kids! We promise you'll have no complaints here! Thanks to Tim Brooks for sending in this lovely recipe.

Ingredients:

In a Large Mixing Bowl...

700 g Self-Raising Flour
220 g Dark Brown Sugar
300 g Raisins or Currants
2-3 Medium grated carrots
2 tbsp Ground Cinnamon
1 tsp Nutmeg
Pinch of Salt
Mix together well.

In a Mixing Jug...

150 ml Vegetable Oil
600 - 700 ml Water or Plant Based Milk (Soya, Almond or Oat)
1 tbsp Vanilla Extract
2 tbsp White Wine Vinegar

For the Icing Later...

Plant based margarine

Icing sugar
Half a lemon

Method:

.....Stir well and add these to the Large Mixing Bowl and mix all together well, you need a 'firm mixture', not 'sloppy'. If mixture too firm add a drop more water or milk but not too much.

Baking Tin

Use a 10 inch diameter /3 inch deep baking tin, lined with non-stick baking paper.

Add the mixed cake mixture to the tin.

Put tin in the oven for around 45 mins at 170 degrees celcius, then check with a knife in the centre. If knife comes out 'clean' cake is ready. If not, replace in oven for around 15 mins then check again. Repeat until 'knife is clean' when removed from the cake.

Allow cake to cool completely after baking is finished.

Icing the Cake

Add a knob of plant based margarine to a pan and melt ('Flora' plant based -low fat-works well)

Add around 2 cups of Icing sugar to a cereal bowl, pour in the melted margarine.

Squeeze half a lemon (removing pips) into the icing sugar. Mix very well.

Add more sugar if mixture is 'runny', as you need a firm mixture that does not 'drip' off a spoon. You can also grate some lemon peel into the icing sugar mixture. Adds more flavour.

When cake is totally cooled and placed onto a large plate, spread the lemon icing on top of the cake.

Slice cake and enjoy!

Daffodil Appeal & Day of Reflection

The Marie Curie Great Daffodil Appeal is observed in March every year. It's a month-long celebration of people joining together to support, by donation, one of the biggest annual charity events in the U.K. All proceeds go to Marie Curie nurses, who provide vital support, hospice care, and access to quality healthcare for patients with terminal illnesses as well as bereaved families. On this day, businesses and commercial establishments stock daffodils in front of their stores while individuals wear a daffodil pin on their shirts to show support. Find out how you can help raise awareness for this cause.

The Marie Curie charity, a fundraising organization, was founded in 1986 to support Marie Curie nurses, patients with critical needs, and families that lost their loved ones to illnesses. During its humble beginnings, volunteers would hand out fresh daffodils and collect donations from strangers willing to shell out any amount. By 1990, the Liverpool Marie Curie Society planted daffodils in the city's Sefton Park with the help of the Liverpool City Hall. This spot was then called the 'Field of Hope,' which became a public park to inspire cancer patients and carers. Liverpool's Spalding market donated the daffodils. This inspired several other places in the city to do the same, including Stanley

Park, Woolton Village, and Clarke Gardens.

In 1995, the Marie Curie organization replaced fresh flowers with fabric daffodil pins. This movement encouraged people to wear daffodils on their clothing as a sign of support for the cause. By then, three million pins had been given out and 1.47 million dollars were donated to the charity. But it wasn't until 2005 that the name 'Great Daffodil Appeal' was formally launched.

In March we also see Marie Curie's 'Day of Reflection' on 23 March. This day aims to bring everyone together for the third UK National Day of Reflection – an opportunity to remember our loved ones who've died, support people who are grieving, and connect with each other. Mark the day with a minute's silence at noon, a nationwide network of Walls of Reflection, and a series of grief-themed online programmes.

The walls offer a space to share memories of the family, friends, colleagues and neighbours who have died.

Create a Wall of Reflection in your school, workplace or community centre for this year's National Day of Reflection – download your toolkit and guide to get started! You can get your toolkit and find out more information here:

By The Barn by Angela Sargent

"Pipe a song about a lamb!
So I piped a merry cheer.
Piper, pipe that song again;
So I piped: he wept to hear"
William Blake

Lambing ewes will be the course of action for many livestock farmers - the result of decisions taken last year and these represent a portion of the farm income. Quickly finished and sent to market is the preferred aim and the 3-4-month-old lamb is nothing like the cute newborn one. However, the farm might be carrying some of last years lambs, which may have been held back for any number of reasons (such as being ill, lame, not fit enough) and its best to get these gone before they get their two teeth (this means they are classed as adult and different rules apply.).

Slurry spreading will be carried out, again if weather permitting, and you will see brown tinged grass fields as it sprays behind the tractor and slurry tank (and may smell it too), but it is using a natural product and replenishing nutrients which may have been lost over winter. The smell is soon gone, especially when it rains, and some farms inject the liquid manure directly into the ground. Whatever process is used records must be kept of dates/ amounts/where/weather conditions etc which can be inspected at any time (we used to call it 'the bullshit' book).

Getting rid of slurry is particularly important for dairy farmers as their storage quickly fills up at this time of year and build up of gases from the effluent can be especially dangerous if not handled carefully. It is easy to be overcome if you are unaware (or even if you are aware) of its dangers.

This month we can hear Great Tits loudly singing its two-tone song, loving gardens and woodlands, where you might see wild snowdrops poking through as spring gets nearer and the earth begins to awaken.

Ted has got used to being inside and not working now, but he cannot yet adjust to the constant road noise and fast, splashy vehicles on the roads. This means he wont walkout far during the day but is happier to go further during the night (if I'm awake!), although we do take him for a brain detoxing run on the fields he knows, off the lead occasionally (thankyou to the new occupants of the farm!).

Where Did You Get That Hat?

Did you know that 25th March is 'Wear A Hat Day'? Always a fan of a kooky celebration day it made us think of Easter bonnets!

We've all had a go at making them in school but for many of us enough time has elapsed where we have forgotten exactly why?

An Easter bonnet is any new or fancy hat worn by tradition as a Christian headcovering on Easter. It represents the tradition of wearing new clothes at Easter, in harmony with the renewal of the year and the promise of spiritual renewal and redemption.

The history of the Easter Bonnet, goes back to the 4th Century. This is the time of Constantine the Great, widely regarded as the first Roman Emperor to embrace Christianity.

Keeping in line with the ancient springtime tradition of renewal, re-birth and now resurrection, it became fashionable for the Romans to wear shiny new clothes on Easter Sunday, having spent the previous forty days of Lent wearing the same old, same old.

As the trend trickled down to the masses, it became bad luck if you didn't have new clothes to wear on Easter Sunday. This even got a mention in 'Poor Robin', a 16th-century satirical book, that noted in rhyme, "At Easter let your clothes be new, or else be sure you will it rue".

Over the pond in the US, there is a noted Easter Parade of 1870, when the post-Easter service congregation came out of St Patrick's Cathedral and walked down Fifth Avenue in their finery. The women's colourful bonnets stood out against the men's dark suits and hats possibly inspiring Irwin Berlin to write 'Easter Parade' in 1933, which was immortalised by the eponymous 1948 musical starring Judy Garland and Fred Astaire.

So how is a bonnet different to a hat? Hats were often made of stiffer material such as felt or straw, worn on the top of the head with the crown and brim roughly horizontal, while bonnets were made of softer fabric and lace, worn on the back of the head with any brim framing the front of the face and held on with ribbon or a strap under the chin.

Some great news for denture wearers

Thank you so much for all your kindness, patience & understanding. Above all else your skills are amazing. You managed to get the end result!

Have an Eggciting Easter

This Easter there's lots of events going on in and around Burton for you to enjoy and take any little ones along to! Here are some of our favourite!...

EASTER BONANZA!

This is a fun weekend for everyone at Branston Golf & Country Club. There will be a gifts, arts & crafts fair and you can even meet the Easter Bunny! Taking place on Saturday 1st & Sunday 2nd April between 11am - 4pm and entry is free!

EASTER TRAIL

Something scaly has arrived at Moira Furnace in Swadlincote and there are large, strange-looking eggs all over the place. From 1st - 16th April (excluding Wednesdays) between 9am & 4pm, help the team find the eggs and solve the mystery of who put them there. There's even a prize at the end to say thank you for your help!

There's a small fee of £1 on the Sundays for parking as there is also the Furnace Food Fair. For more information visit: www.moirafurnace.org

GASWORKS EASTER HUNT

On Saturday 8th April, and with National Wildlife Week falling at the same time as Easter this year The Gasworks in Sudbury have gone nuts crazy with egg hunts, bug hunts and a nature scavenger hunt!

It is not just about the hunts. They will also have other craft based activities to get involved with including building sections for our Bug Hotel.

Each session will start with a timed Egg hunt! Don't forget to bring a small basket / bag to collect the eggs you find! There will be a sweet treat for all with an Egg-stra special prize for an Egg-stra special egg. Then it's time to explore nature and take part in the craft activities at your own pace.

There are 3 sessions to choose from, 10am -12pm, 12pm - 2pm or 2pm - 4pm so get in touch to book. For more information visit: www.sudburygasworks.com

EASTER EGG-STRAVAGANZA

On Sunday April 9th pop along to Burton on Trent Golf Club between 12:00 pm and 4:00 pm to join in the fun! There will be a craft corner, easter egg hunt, stuff and keep your own Peter Rabbit teddy and lots more activities. Entry is £15 per child and covers all activities.

EASTER EGG HUNT AND LIVE MUSIC WITH WOODING

On Monday 10th April between 2-5pm enjoy a family Easter Monday afternoon with an Easter egg hunt for the children and live music in the bar with the fabulous Wooding at Stretton Social Club. For more info visit: www.strettonsocialclub.co.uk

Lay a Little Egg For Me!

In recent years many families have adopted a hen or two to keep in their back garden as a pet. What could be better than fresh eggs! Giving a home to an ex-battery hen can be rewarding but isn't for the faint hearted. If you're thinking of giving a home to a lucky clucker, here are some things to consider:

Home Sweet Home

You can convert a regular shed or outbuilding, build your own coop, or buy a purpose-built hen house. You also need to decide on your preferred system: keeping the hens in a smaller house with attached run, frequently moving it onto a fresh area of lawn or ground or building a larger permanently-sited aviary type enclosure. Most new coops and runs will have manufacturers' stocking rates; buy a hen house to accommodate more hens than you want.

Room to Move

Depending on the size of each chicken, they will need a MINIMUM of the following, but please give them as much space as you can. Hens are social creatures and need enough space to ensure good social interaction. By restricting space, you are inviting unhealthy behaviour and stress in your flock.

- Floor space inside the house – minimum of 30 square cms per bird
- Perch space – minimum of 25cms per bird
- Outside run – ex-caged birds need minimum of 1 sq m per bird, ex-free range hens need a minimum of 2 sq m per bird, plus the ability to free range each day.

Friend for Their Life

Most ex-battery hens will go on to enjoy a long and happy free-range retirement. However, they have worked hard for almost 18 months so some will have a shorter lifespan than others.

New Environment

Initially ex-battery hens will not know how to shelter and may stand outside when it's wet and windy, so you may need to physically put them in the coop if the weather is inclement.

Food Glorious Food

Hens need speciality food that gives them enough of the nutrients they need. Ex-battery hens are used to finer food so start them on layers 'crumble' before moving to 'pellets'. It is fine to feed a small amount of mixed corn in the afternoon; this will guarantee they go to sleep with a full crop.

Never not overfeed your hens with treats or scatter food on the ground as this will attract mice and rats and may adversely impact egg production. They do LOVE a few mealworms from time to time and get excited, making a cute clucky noise when they see the bag!

If you want to keep backyard hens, you can find more information and advice here: www.bhwt.org.uk

Poisonous Plants by Derby Cats Protection

Do you wonder what plants are poisonous to cats or those that are safe?

Most cats are very wary of eating anything unusual, which means plant poisoning cases taken to the vets are rare. When a cat does become unwell, it is usually because something has brushed on their fur or paws, which they have then ingested while grooming.

Symptoms of Poisoning:

Depending on the plant species that has been ingested, the early signs and symptoms of poisoning can vary greatly.

Irritants may cause symptoms such as: irritation around the mouth, itchiness, swelling, and red or watery eyes.

If your cats' organs have been affected by ingesting a toxic plant, symptoms of poisoning may include: breathing difficulties, drooling, difficulty swallowing, drinking a lot, frequent urination, overall weakness, or irregular heartbeat. Gastrointestinal symptoms of poisoning may include: vomiting and diarrhea.

To find our list of safe and unsafe plants visit: <https://www.cats.org.uk/media/10320/cats-and-outdoor-plants.pdf>

Do you need an Angel in your life?

Ready, Steady... Go!

By Tim Brooks

Well hooray!.. it's another gardening season ahead of us and many keen gardeners may well have already begun sowing seeds in their greenhouses or heated propagators.

I for one have sown my Chilli, Pepper and Aubergine seeds in pots, then placed in the propagator till they emerge. Then take them out to 'adjust' to the cooler temperatures, otherwise the stems get too 'leggy'. But even so, they still grow well after being potted singly into pots. That is the 'fiddly bit', transplanting all the seedlings individually into their 3 or 4 inch pots. Best to incorporate some perlite in with the compost, to assist drainage and root development. Perlite is sold in bags at garden centres. Otherwise compost can get a bit soggy which can harm seedlings, the result being they rot at the stem bases.

Now is also time to think about sowing Tomato seeds indoors. There are many, many varieties of Tomato to buy, but we usually save seeds from the previous year of our desired varieties, saved on newspaper when wet. Then allowed to dry off totally, store the 'seeds/newspaper sheets', in an envelope. All you then need to do is put compost halfway in a tray, lay a sheet of the 'newspaper/saved seeds' (trimmed to tray size) on the compost. Then add more compost over the 'seeds/newspaper', about a centimetre thick. Water well and place a propagator lid over the tray, or some clear polythene. Keep in a warm, lighted area, greenhouse or window sill. In about 2 – 3 weeks they should all emerge. When two leaves have developed, carefully pot up singly, adding the perlite to the mixture.

When ready do not handle seedlings by their stems, as this damages them. Carefully hold by the leaves, teasing the seedlings out of the compost using a plastic plant label, then pot up and grow the plants on indoors until late May for outdoor growing or transplant into large pots or growbags for indoor growing in early May. Make sure there is drainage at the base of the planter or pots.

It is also time for sowing broad beans in trays or even outdoors direct. Along with onion sets outdoors in rows. Later in March you can prepare to sow carrots, parsnips and peas outside too. I generally wait till early April for my main sowings if the weather still seems too cold and wet.

There's still lots to do indoors, including sowing flowers like dahlias, which can be potted on into larger pots, especially the taller cactus and pompom varieties. They are planted outside in late May or early June, after frosts have passed and supported with canes and tied in. Regular deadheading and feeding encourages more flowers.

On our allotment plots it's a welcoming sight to see the plot holders starting to get back into action again. An exciting spring season of seed sowing ahead and optimism all gardeners have right now.

Happy Gardening!
